LAYOUT

When considering the actual layout of your bath area, be sure to contact a designer with experience. If the project is a major renovation or building project, it is best to use a certified kitchen and bath designer. Ask if there is a designer in your area associated with the National Kitchen and Bath Association (NKBA) or the Certified Bathroom Designers (CBD). There are recommended space allowances, function and safety to consider. This is where their expertise is so important.

Plan your bathroom by choosing the overall style and items you consider real priorities for your bath. Take your notes, pictures and ideas with you to visit a designer or showroom.
